Drinker Biddle's Warren Baker Named Top Health Care Litigator by *Nightingale's Healthcare News

CHICAGO – Warren Baker, a partner in the Chicago office of Drinker Biddle & Reath LLP, was named one of 10 “Outstanding Healthcare Litigators ” for 2009 by Nightingale's Healthcare News, a bi-monthly newsletter for professionals serving the health care industry. Baker was recognized for his success in defending a physician and his corporate entity, an exclusive acute care dialysis provider, in a credentialing case under the Health Care Quality Improvement Act, and for his defense of a hospital and health system in an action for specific performance of an alleged contract to sell the client's interest in ancillary imaging centers to its joint venture partners.

A member of the firm's Commercial Litigation Practice Group, Baker boasts a 30-plus year legal career as an accomplished trial lawyer and advisor to his corporate clients, with extensive experience in complex commercial litigation and alternative dispute resolution in a broad spectrum of industries involving both public and privately owned companies. He has tried cases in state and federal courts across the country, arbitrated cases before the American Arbitration Association and litigated international disputes before the International Chamber of Commerce and in foreign courts. In addition to litigation related to health care, Baker's practice has included matters relating to intellectual property, contracts, securities, business torts, antitrust, corporate governance, employment, product liability, white collar crime and education.
